Daniel Omesi

Backend Developer

As a computer science student in the final stages of my degree, I'm eager to work hard and use my set of tools, including both the knowledge I've gained and my ability to adapt and grow, to excel in a professional setting. I'm now looking for an entry-level development position where I can apply these skills to meaningful projects and contribute effectively.

Notable Projects available on GitHub

- Linux-based project leveraging flight data APIs for comprehensive flight information visualization (C++)
- WinForms app integrating Facebook API for data presentation (C#)
- Object Oriented Garage Management System developed (C#)
- Console/Desktop Application of the classic game Tic Tac Toe (C#)
- Console-based Object Oriented Social Network implemented in (C++)
- Customized menu console interface creation in (C#)

Experience

2022 - Now

Bug Multi-System

Salesperson

During my time as a salesperson in a tech retail environment, I had the opportunity to cultivate and refine my interpersonal skills, building meaningful connections with customers and understanding their unique needs. This experience allowed me to develop a deep understanding of the ever-evolving tech landscape, enabling me to provide informed advice and recommendations that matched customers' requirements with suitable solutions.

2021- 2022

Or Vaezer

Vaccinator

Being a vaccinator during the COVID-19 vaccination campaign provided me with the opportunity to actively contribute to the health and safety of my community.

2017 - 2020

Israel Defence Forces

Combat Soldier

During my service in the IDF as a troop in the combat unit Givati, I actively participated in various missions and critical operations. Additionally, serving as a combat medic, I provided vital medical assistance to my surroundings.
